CONNECTICUT COURANT.

VOL. LXII.....NO. 3207.]

HARTFORD MONDAY, JULY 10, 1826.

[2 Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

From the Boston Recorder and Telegraph, MORE GREEK YOUTH.

In the Romulus, Capt. Allen, which arrived here last Saturday from Smyrna, which place she left on the 7th of April, came passengers three Greek youth, viz. Gregory Perdiccari, 22 years of age, Nicholas Vlasopolos, 21, and Nicholas Z. Prassas, 16. The first 1s from Berea, the second from Ithaca, and the third from Mt. Olympus.

Perdiccari has known by experience, something of the calamities of war. At the capture of Naussa (9 miles from Berea) in April 1821, two of his brothers-in-law were killed, and his mother, two brothers and 4 sisters, were taken by the Turks; but their freedom was afterwards purchased by some of their friends. Perdiccari and his father, comprising the remainder of the family, escaped to the mountains-since which time his eyes never have been cheered with the sight of any one of them .- Ithaca being under English protection, the immediate friends of Vlasopolos have suffered comparatively little .-- The father of Prassas, a short time before the breaking out of the revolution, removed his family to Smyrna, where they have remained ever since.

Perdiccari, as we learn by a letter of introduction to one of the Editors from Professor King, "speaks five different languages including the English," in which he is tolerably versed. "He was with me and Mr. Fisk at Jerusalem, and we felt a great deal of interest in him." He is indeed a fine young man-very intelligent-and every way worthy of Greece in her better days. The same may be said of the other two; and of all, so far as we know, who have arrived in this country from Greece for the purpose of education. Including the three above mentioned, the whole number is eleven. Photius Kavasales and Auastatius Karavelles arrived in Feb 1823, and are now at Amherst Academy. Stephano and Pantoleon Galati arrived in Oct. 1824 :- the former is a member of Yale College, and the latter is engaged in the preparatory studies at New-Haven. Constantino and Pandias Ralli, Nicholas Petrokokino and Alessandro Paspati, arrived in May 1825: the first is a member of Amherst College, the second of Munson Academy, the third of Amherst College, and the fourth of Amherst Academy.

The influence which these young men will exert on returning to their native land, it is delightful to contemplate. One of them at least gives evidence of piety; and all are youth of the fairest promise.